Highlights:

- Serve as Managing Director of the Center for Negotiation and Justice and develop simulation courses teaching negotiation and drafting in the settlement and transaction contexts.
- Served as Chair of the Pilot Implementation Committee and facilitated faculty teaching in a new first-year curriculum that emphasizes outcomes related to knowledge, skills, and professional attributes and encourages faculty collaboration to increase the transfer of student learning.
- Served as Chair of the Curriculum Committee and collaborated with all departments and faculty on myriad efforts, including the First-Year Pilot Task Force, the Pathway Outcome Mapping Task Force, and the Skills and Professionalism Task Force, as well as increasing experiential learning and outcomes-based education; coordinated bar-passage proposal implementation, the Advanced Research & Writing Requirement, and the reorganization of competitions; oversaw the approval of new courses, with emphasis on externship, clinical, and service-learning courses.

- Served as Director of the William Mitchell Fellows Leadership Program and redefined and revitalized the student selection and recruitment process by emphasizing academic excellence, leadership, and commitment to public service.
- Redesigned Bankruptcy, Sales, and Secured Transactions courses to engage backward-course design, including a course problem with multiple writing assessments that tracked course outcomes.
- Created a Bankruptcy Law Externship course for eight students per semester and trained two adjuncts to teach the course.
- Developed Navigating Law School: Academic Preparation Workshop for Incoming Students, a 12-hour course offered to new students the week before fall classes begin.
