

RALEIGH HANNAH LEVINE (SHE/HER)
RALEIGH.LEVINE@MITCHELLHAMLINE.EDU

SELECTED EMPLOYMENT HISTORY:

Professor of Law, Mitchell Hamline School of Law, 2001-present (sabbatical, 2021-2024)

- Areas of expertise: Mass Media and Social Media Law; Free Expression Law; First Amendment Law; U.S. Constitutional Law; U.S. Election Law; Torts (including defamation and privacy)
- Research, advise on, draft, and edit amicus briefs to state and federal U.S. courts on behalf of the ACLU and other nonprofit organizations, including the Media Coalition and the Electronic Frontier Foundation
- Serve as expert for local, state, and national press
- Manage staff (administrative assistants; adjunct faculty; teaching and research assistants); chair multiple faculty/faculty-staff/faculty-board committees

Senior Policy Manager, Content, Trust & Safety, Amazon Web Services, 2022-2024

- Served as global policy team lead for development, revision, and implementation of content moderation policies on misinformation, GenAI and deepfakes, election integrity, terrorist and violent extremist content, violent and graphic content, hate speech, cyberbullying and harassment, and image-based sexual abuse
- Developed cross-Trust & Safety policies and standard operating procedures to comply with the EU Terrorist Content Online regulation, EU Digital Services Act, and other content takedown legislation
- Consulted on creation of community guidelines and developed, revised, and implemented policies and moderator guidance for PartyRock, an app-building tool that lets end users create GenAI applications and share them on social media
- Devised and operationalized cross-Trust & Safety strategies for combatting online harm, including a global Trust & Safety framework defining the harms of online content and the likelihood of their occurrence and a global policy on repeat offenders
- Collaborated with Legal, Public Policy, Incident Management, Risk & Response, Operations, and Public Relations teams to strategize on policies and streamline detection and enforcement processes
- Presented policies to CEO and senior management team for their approval, and socialized policies with multiple other internal and external stakeholders

Global Product Policy Issue Lead, Integrity & Authenticity Vertical, TikTok, 2021-2022

- Served as people manager for global product/content policy team that developed and refined scalable misinformation and disinformation, conspiracy theory, impersonation, state-affiliated news media, and election integrity content moderation policies, community guidelines, and media literacy initiatives tailored to cultural norms in multiple countries
- Conceived and implemented strategic vision for Integrity & Authenticity vertical
- Collaborated with Public Policy, Product, Operations, Legal, and Communications teams and external fact-checking partners to improve content policies and streamline detection and enforcement processes
- Presented policy philosophy and approach to new products and features to CEO and senior management team for their approval, and socialized with multiple other internal and external stakeholders
- Engaged with external stakeholders to incorporate outside expertise into TikTok's platform policies

Staff Attorney, Strumwasser & Woocher LLP; George Slaff Fellow in First Amendment Law and Cooperating Attorney, ACLU, Southern California

- Litigated First Amendment and Election Law cases at state and federal U.S. trial and appellate court levels

Law Clerk, Judge J. R. Browning, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit

News Producer, CNN Headline News

- Produced, edited, and wrote news stories and packages for the program CNN Headline News

EDUCATION:

J.D. with Distinction, Order of the Coif, Stanford Law School (GPA 3.86)

- Note Editor, Stanford Law Review
- Goldsmith Award (best student paper, university-wide, on dispute resolution)
- Cummings Award; Matteson Award (best moot court brief; moot court finalist)
- Oehlmann Prize (best research and writing by first-year law student)

B.A. with Honors in English Literature, Wesleyan University