

Information for the Arbitrator(s) of High-Low Bracket Arrangement

The parties have negotiated certain high and low bracket dollar amounts that will apply to this case, after your arbitral decision has been made. In other words, they have agreed that in the event of a “no liability” finding, Bagger will receive a negotiated minimum amount and, in the event of a liability finding, Delishco will pay only up to a negotiated maximum amount. If liability is found and an arbitration award is rendered that is lower than their negotiated maximum, Bagger will receive that award amount.

While the parties have agreed that you are to be informed of the existence of their high-low bracket arrangement, they have also agreed that bracket dollar amounts should remain confidential.
