

Jane E. Blaney

Jane Blaney graduated from Mitchell Hamline School of Law in May 2020 with certificates in Health Care Compliance and Health Law. Jane served as Editor-in-Chief of the Mitchell Hamline Law Journal of Public Policy and Practice, student liaison of the Minnesota State Bar Association Health Law Section, and President of the Health Law Society. She competed in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot Competition in Vienna, Austria in 2019, was 4th place oralist in the 2019 National Health Law Moot Competition, and placed 2nd with her team in the Health Law Regulatory and Compliance Competition in 2019. Jane also travelled to Bergen, Norway in 2019 to participate in the Maritime Bergen Law program in coordination with the University of Bergen. Prior to Law School, Jane worked in healthcare in a range of capacities, with a general focus on direct care.

Alice Choi

Alice is a 3L at Villanova University Charles Widger School of Law. She studied political science at Boston College and worked as a litigation paralegal following graduation. She developed an interest in health law through her work on medical malpractice and medical products liability cases.

Baylee Culverhouse

Baylee is a 3L at Georgia State University College of Law. Originally from Fort Valley, Georgia, she graduated from the University of Georgia in 2018 with degrees in English and political science. Baylee is pursuing a Masters of Science in Health Administration (M.S.H.A.) and a health law certificate, and she currently serves as Lead Articles Editor for the Georgia State University Law Review and 3L President of the Student Health Law Association. In the past, she has interned at Grady Health System's Office of Legal Affairs, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and MagMutual Insurance Company. In her free time, she enjoys playing violin and reading.