2022 Summer Judicial Internship Diversity Project

The SJID Project provides summer judicial internships to diverse law students from communities underrepresented in the legal community. The project is national in scope and will place law students as judicial interns in the chambers of federal appellate, district, bankruptcy, magistrate, and select state court judges.

Interns will have the opportunity to draft bench memoranda, judicial orders, and opinions on a variety of substantive matters, including motions to dismiss, motions for summary judgment, magistrate judge reports, and habeas corpus petitions. Applicants should possess strong research and writing skills and be prepared to handle the rigors of working in a court.
