

Why should law students apply for a Steiger Fellowship? Here are some details – and six great reasons why.

Sponsored by the ABA Antitrust Law Section, the Janet D. Steiger Fellowship Project provides rising 2L and 3L law students with an extraordinary opportunity to spend the summer of 2023 working in one of 43 Offices of the State Attorney General and other consumer protection agencies across the country. Fellows receive a $6,000 stipend, subject to certain taxes and administered through the various agencies. The Fellowship is named in memory of Janet Steiger, the first woman to chair the Federal Trade Commission and a steadfast proponent of cooperative state-federal consumer protection law enforcement. Why should you apply to be a Steiger Fellow? We thought you'd never ask.

Because consumer protection law is challenging & intriguing

Whether it's false advertising, fraud, data security, privacy, telemarketing, or fintech, Steiger Fellows work on some of the hottest issues around.

2

Because Fellows work with terrific teachers and mentors.

Steiger Fellows will learn from experienced Assistant Attorneys General in a fast-paced litigation atmosphere where no two days will be the same.

3

Because it's a dream job for law students committed to public service

Considering a public interest career? Try it out this summer as a Steiger Fellow. Protecting consumers is challenging work – and we think you'll love it.

4

Because a summer with a State AG or other office is a great resume builder

Serving as a Steiger Fellow is a prestigious addition to any law student's resume. And it can open doors to other career opportunities.

5

Because the application process is simple & Fellows receive a $6,000 stipend.

It's an easy online application. Steiger Fellows learn from colleagues across the country through a series of summer webinars. And Fellows are paid.

6

Because there's nothing as rewarding as practicing law in the public interest

Former Fellows tell us they look back on their summer as among the most meaningful experiences of their career. And that's what it's all about, isn't it?
